The Power Gear Hydraulic Leveling System Reset is an important procedure that needs to be performed in order to properly maintain your RV's leveling system. This reset can help correct any issues related to the hydraulic jacks and levelers, such as ???

An automatic leveling system quickly brings your coach into level without using leveling blocks or ramps. All systems use combinations of straight-down and/or kick-down jacks engineered for your RV's specific chassis configuration. Operation is easy, using joystick controls or automatic, single-step computerized touch panel controls.

Re: Power gear levelling system My 2008 Southwind has Power Gear electric jacks, and I had all kinds of problems with them. Please see my post in the General RV section about the fix, maintenance, etc. for these jacks. I had great customer service from Fleetwood and Power Gear Jim Coleman 2008 Southwind

I have a 2003 Fleetwood Southwind 36RS with the Power Gear Jack System. I have one jack, my right rear, that is leaking fluid. I have removed both of my rear jacks on my 98 Pace Arrow. My Power Gear jack was a 500082 so yours might be different than mine. Yeah, mine were a bear to remove but I got it done. 1999 Southwind 35S Power Gear

I have a 98 Fleetwood Southwind with a power gear ***** system and the jacks wont work. It wasn't getting power to the control pad so I disconnected it and reinstalled it. This brought power back to the pad but nothing moves when depressing the controls to put the jacks down or up. The on/off button light illuminates on and off when pushed.
