

On the other hand, the concept of the green or smart island provides a new way of looking at the role energy plays in everyday life, the evolving relationship between energy utilities and consumers, and its development may create opportunities for transitioning into a sustainable energy future [5-8].