The only stick vacuum with Hoover WindTunnel technology and cyclonic filtration even when moving from hard floors to low pile carpet. Includes: 18V Lithium-Ion Battery, Battery Charger, and Reusable Easy Rinse Filter. LINX Cordless Fade-Free Lithium-Ion Battery System - interchangeable battery with charger.

Many of the other models also offer multiple cleaning modes. While the Hoover Linx can transition from hardwood (suction only) to carpet (suction and brush roll) with the flip of a switch, Dyson's DC59 has a regular mode and a max power mode that provides a quick burst of power for tackling particularly stubborn debris.

You betcha. The $179.99 Hoover Linx is an uncomplicated cordless stick vacuum. While it can't compete with the $499.99 Dyson DC59's intriguing design and variety of brush attachments, it offers something even better: exceptional performance. Since it also costs significantly less than comparable performers, its value is tough to ignore.

I bought the Hoover Linx Platinum lithium ion battery (BH50000-REV B) to replace the original battery (BH50000) that came with the May 27, 2010 vacuum purchase. I have used and recharged the new battery twice after the initial charging session. Each time the charging unit light indicated a full charge after 3 hours.
