Unlike the short-lived, high-octane jolt from traditional energy drinks, Sol Energy's Yerba Mate-infused formula offers a steady, sustainable energy flow. You'll experience heightened alertness and productivity without the dreaded crash. Why Sol Energy Chooses Yerba Mate. At Sol Energy, we are committed to crafting a healthier energy drink.

Most energy drinks are laden with added sugar and injected with stimulants like caffeine, guarana (an stimulant much stronger than caffeine), and even B-vitamins (purported to help "get the Alternative Solutions To Energy Drinks. While "healthy" energy drinks are better than "regular" energy drinks, there are even better ways to naturally boost your energy levels, including: 1. Red Superfood Powders. Red superfood powders are nutritional powder blends that contain mostly red ingredients like tomatoes and berries.

That is part of the reason that we created Sol Energy. An average "fun" drink can contain anywhere from 100-200+ calories. Those calories quickly add up and then take the place of food. One can of Sol only has 5 calories- and even better they are not empty calories. They provide energy, natural sweetness to curb your sweet tooth, and

You can always try a change of pace whenever you feel a craving for energy drinks. Try to shift your mind to something else, e.g., try playing a video game. Yes, playing games can help keep your mind off the urge to drink energy drinks. Meditation and Yoga. Meditation is a great way to hold back the urge you get for an energy drink.
