Why does a planet outside our Solar System look black?

NASA's Hubble Space Telescope has observed a planet outside our solar system that looks as black as fresh asphalt because it eats light rather than reflecting it back into space. This light-eating prowess is due to the planet's unique capability to trap at least 94 percent of the visible starlight falling into its atmosphere. The [...]

Can a solar panel system have a black start?

In order for the components of the system to continue to operate, the system needs to have islanding capabilities. One way to achieve that while also adding black start capability is to pair a solar panel system with an energy storage solution.

What happens if my solar system goes black?

If your solar system is equipped with a battery that has blackout protection enabled, there is nothing for you to do in the event of a blackout. The battery recognises when the grid fails, switches over to backup mode and will start powering your home.

What is a black solar panel?

They have a black appearance and are often used in residential and commercial solar installations due to their high efficiency and reliability. They perform well in low-light conditions and are more durable than poly panels, with a longer lifespan.
